The data that makes it possible to search the Yellow Pages comes from:

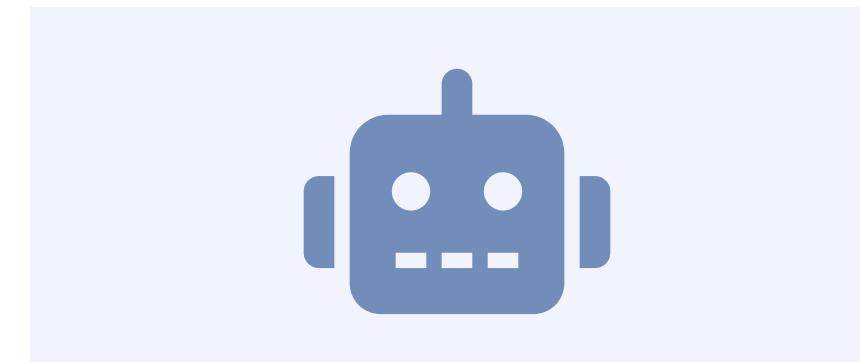

Librarians

Information professionals at the Library digitized the White and Yellow Pages from microfilm and created original metadata for the directories, including directory names and years. They're also here to answer your questions through Ask a Librarian

Volunteers

Volunteers for the Library tag, mark up, label, and transcribe business information contained in scanned Yellow Pages images to train computers how to do that work. These volunteer contributions help both generate and enrich the data that drives this site. Get involved!

Machine Learning

Computer algorithms look for patterns in the digitized Yellow Pages to classify content as ads or business listings, and then identify names, addresses, and phone numbers. Other algorithms clean and geocode addresses and connect businesses across directories. Human volunteers check some of the algorithms' work to help improve accuracy over time.
